

What's in a name? You may have heard rumor that the 2002 Encantado and Temperance are the same wine... well, it's true. Lompoc, where we are located, was originally founded as a temperance colony – thus the Temperance label. But, Encantado fit as the name for this pretty and elegant Syrah. We couldn't decide between the two names, hence the two different labels. This wine is made in an aromatic and fruit-driven style with soft, mellow tannin. Excellent paired with anything from pork to lamb or beef. (Mistaken for Pinot Noir by more than a few.)
